Fund Attributes

The American Trust Allegiance Fund has one overriding investment objective: capital appreciation for socially conscious investors. This objective informs everything we do. While the objective is simple, the work we do is sometimes complex. We ground our investment work and our client service in three core aspirations—we strive to always be ethical, insightful and capable.

Standards That Work Together in Partnership — The Fund's Advisor searches for companies that satisfy both investment and social objectives. First, the Advisor screens databases of publicly-traded companies for financial characteristics that meet our investment criteria in terms of long-term growth potential. Second, the Advisor applies the Fund's social screens, avoiding companies involved in the alcohol, gambling, tobacco and healthcare industries.

Investment Update

The Fund's total return year-to-date stands at +14.41% versus +15.92% for the S&P 500. A slight drag from international positions was a factor in the relative performance, as was our positioning for cyclical recovery. We have confidence in the recovery of U.S. economic growth and resurgent corporate profits from 2020's nadir, on the back of fiscal and monetary stimulus, a stabilizing consumer, and a return to normalcy in a post-pandemic period. Further, as recovery broadens internationally, the Fund's 30% international holdings stand to benefit. We are managing the Fund at this pivotal point by: 1) adding to quality companies which we believe are discounting onerous but short-term outcomes, and reducing those that are not; 2) increasing exposure to business models that have enduring competitive advantage or to international markets that are markedly less expensive; and 3) remaining selectively positioned for an uptick in capital spending in the U.S. and abroad, which we expect for a recovery period such as 2021-2022.

Fund holdings are subject to change at any time and are not recommendations to buy or sell any security. The Allegiance Fund is a mutual fund that avoids investments in tobacco, alcohol, gambling, pharmaceutical or medical companies. The S&P 500 is an unmanaged index of 500 industrial, utility, transportation and financial companies of the U.S. markets. This index is not available for investment and does not incur charges or expenses.

The overall calculations are based on an equal-weighted average of percentile ranks for the Preservation and Tax Efficiency metrics over 3-, 5- and 10-year periods (if applicable.) The highest 20% of funds in each classification are named Lipper Leaders for Preservation or Tax Efficiency, the next 20% receive a score of 4, the middle 20% are scored 3, the next 20% are scored 2 and the lowest 20% are scored 1. These scores are subject to change every month. The American Trust Allegiance Fund, in Lipper's large-cap core funds category, received the following ratings for the overall, 3-, 5- and 10-year periods, respectively: For Preservation, the Fund received a 3 designation among 12,232 funds for the overall period, a Lipper score of 2 among 12,232 funds for the 3-year period, a 3 designation among 10,742 funds for the 5-year period, and a 3 designation among 7,409 funds for the 10-year period. For Tax Efficiency, the Fund received a 3 designation among 577 funds for the overall period, a Lipper score of 2 among 576 funds for the 3-year period, a 3 designation among 519 funds for the 5-year period, and a 4 designation among 415 funds for the 10-year period.

Lipper Ratings for Preservation reflect funds' historical loss avoidance relative to other funds within the same asset class, as of 09/30/2021. Preservation ratings are relative, rather than absolute measures, and funds named Lipper Leaders for Preservation may still experience losses periodically; those losses may be larger for equity and mixed equity funds than for fixed income funds. Lipper Ratings for Tax Efficiency reflect funds' historical success in postponing taxable distributions relative to peers as of 09/30/2021. Tax Efficiency offers no benefit to investors in tax-sheltered accounts such as 401(k) plans.

Mutual fund investing involves risk. Principal loss is possible. The Fund may invest in small and medium-capitalization companies which tend to have limited liquidity and greater price volatility than larger-capitalization companies. The Fund's social policy may cause it to make or avoid investments for social reasons when it is otherwise disadvantageous to do so. The Fund may invest in foreign and emerging market securities which will involve greater volatility and political, economic and currency risks and differences in accounting methods. The risks are particularly significant for funds that invest in emerging markets. The fund may make short sales of securities, which involves the risk that losses may exceed the original amount invested.

Investments in Real Estate Investment Trusts (REITs) will be subject to the risks associated with the direct ownership of real estate and annual compliance with tax rules applicable to REITs. Risks commonly associated with the direct ownership of real estate include fluctuations in the value of underlying properties, defaults by borrowers or tenants, changes in interest rates and risks related to general or local economic conditions. In addition, REITs have their own expenses, and the Fund will bear a proportionate share of those expenses.

The Fund's investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses must be considered carefully before investing. The prospectus contains this and other important information about the investment company, and it may be obtained by calling 800-385-7003, or visiting <http://www.allegiancefund.com>. Read it carefully before investing.

While the fund is no-load, management fees and other expenses still apply.

Investments in mutual funds are: Not Insured/Not Guaranteed by any financial institution and are subject to market risk.
